

Pupil Premium Spending 2018-19

Impact Report

There are four main barriers to achievement for PPG pupils at Nova Hreod Academy.

1. Until the current academic year, the curriculum at Nova Hreod had been too narrow and was lacking in breadth and balance. Too little time was given to creative subjects, to the Arts and to PE. For some PPG pupils who find academic learning challenging, this meant that the subjects they enjoyed had little timetabled time.
2. Until September 2018, there were no Heads of Year or heads of House at Nova Hreod. The lack of a strong pastoral system meant that on occasions, there was insufficient capacity to meet the needs of PPG pupils.
3. Whilst there has always been a focus on developing teaching and learning, the monitoring of the quality of teaching has not been robust enough. The achievement of some PPG pupils in lower sets is below where it should be, and their progress is a concern.
4. The Binary behaviour system at Nova Hreod Academy has meant that reasonable adjustments were not put in place for PPG students – particularly those on the SEN register for SEMH needs, for those on and ASD/ADHD spectrum

There are four main areas for spending on our Pupil Premium Pupils. We have used the NFER research into the building blocks that are common in schools which are successful in raising disadvantaged pupils' attainment.

Our core areas of focus are as follows:

1. CPD Programmes to develop quality first teaching
2. Resources to support data driven teaching and assessment
3. Broadening the curriculum and deploying staff effectively
4. Meeting Individual Learning Needs

1. CPD Programmes to develop quality first teaching

2. Resources to support data driven teaching and assessment

In order to deliver the programmes and strategies aimed at improving attainment for disadvantaged pupils, we have invested pupil premium funds in text books, subscriptions, technology and classroom resources. The programmes that we have invested in help us to use data to identify pupils' learning needs and to address underperformance quickly. The programme support staff in Assessment for Learning by providing efficient question level analysis of tests. We are then able to use this evidence to make decisions about our support strategies.

3. Deploying staff effectively

Research has shown that a focus on deploying teaching and support staff effectively and on addressing behaviour and attendance are important if disadvantaged pupils are to thrive. We use our funding to ensure that effective behaviour strategies are in place, we respond quickly to poor attendance and we provide strong social and emotional support through our work with families.
